

---

Contents

---

List of contributors	vii
Preface	ix
1 Introduction: the vicissitudes of liberalism Duncan Ivison	1
PART I FOUNDATIONS
2 Liberal conceptions of the self Alexandre Lefebvre	30
3 Rights on a liberal trajectory Matthew Joseph	45
4 Histories of liberalisms Duncan Ivison	62
5 Liberalism and international political thought Theodore Christov	79
6 The ethical state and awakened self: towards a reconstructed liberalism Vafa Ghazavi	97
7 Liberalism and the family Riccardo Spotorno	119
8 The historicity of public reason Paul Patton	135
PART II CONUNDRUMS
9 Liberalism and belonging: political community and minority membership Clayton Chin	153
10 Liberalism and relational freedom: re-encountering Indigenous political philosophies Allison Weir	173

11	Boundaries Avery Kolers	194
12	Immigration and liberal freedom Chandran Kukathas	210
13	Liberalism and structural injustice: when the solution becomes the problem Vittorio Bufacchi	225
14	The challenges of care and dependence for liberal political philosophy Susan Dodds	239
15	Decarcerating civil disobedience: punishment, policing, and the problem of innocence Alexander Livingston	254
PART III EMERGENT CHALLENGES
16	The post-liberal movement Paul Kelly	276
17	Liberalism and populism Simon Tormey	292
18	Liberalism and the more-than-human Danielle Celermajer, Darren Chang, David Schlosberg and Christine Winter	308
19	Liberalism and automated injustice Chad Lee-Stronach	331
20	The challenge to liberal democracies of political disinformation Lisa Hill	344
	Index	360