

INTRODUCTION

The papers in the present volume were presented at a symposium on The History of Logic held in Helsinki in June 11–13, 2000 hosted by the University of Helsinki, Finland. The organization of the symposium grew out of a common interest in the history of logic and the foundations of mathematics which have been constant topics of discussion for several years in the joint seminars of the departments of mathematics and philosophy of the University of Helsinki. The participants were: Mark van Atten, Gabriella Crocco, Michael Detlefsen, Jacques Dubucs, Jean Fichot, Juliet Floyd, Leila Haaparanta, Jikko Hintikka, Jukka Keranen, Paolo Mancosu, Kenneth Manders, Mathieu Marion, Enrico Moriconi, Rohit Parikh, Volker Peckhaus, Enrico de Pellegrin, Jan von Plato, Panu Raatikainen, Jan Woleński, Norma Yunez-Naude and Richard Zach.

We would like to thank the Academy of Finland and the University of Helsinki for generously sponsoring the whole event.
