

Terra Cosmica
Giovanbattista Tusa

Tenement Press 13, MMXXIV
ISBN 978-1-7393851-9-4

Terra Cosmica / Traces of Georealism
Giovanbattista Tusa

A Note on these Texts	9
(It is almost impossible to see in retrospect what was not built in perspective.)	11
A Postscript
Mineral Anarchy	27
Against the Whole Planet	41
Georealism	67
Vertigos / Climates of Philosophy	97
Ecocosmism	123
Endnotes	147
Works Cited	161

The following texts appeared in variation, in whole or in part, in the following places and publications—‘Mineral Anarchy’ is the text of an invited lecture given at the National Geological Museum in Lisbon on July 8, 2022, entitled ‘Deep Life: Reimagining our Fossil Modernity.’ ‘Against the whole planet’ was published as an article—under the title ‘De-limitations: Of Other Earths’—in Stasis: An International Journal in Social and Political Philosophy and Theory, 9:1 (2020), 166-183. ‘Georealism’ was first presented on June 29, 2023, under the title ‘Memories of Air’ at the 4th Biennial Conference of the Political Ecology Network at the University of KwaZulu-Natal in Durban, South Africa. Thereafter, it was published as an article under the title ‘Astral Bodies: Elements of Georealism,’ Itinera, 25 (2023), 365-379. ‘Vertigos: Climates of Philosophy’ was first published in Philosophies, 7.1 (2022). ‘Ecocosmism’ was presented as an invited lecture on December 13, 2023, under the title ‘Remembering the future: Fragments for an Anarchaeology of Injustice’ at the Universidade Federal do Amazonas in Manaus, Brazil. The second part was given as an invited lecture on June 29, 2024, entitled ‘Ecocosmism: The Limits of an Unsustainable Life’ at Waseda University in Tokyo, Japan on the occasion of my residency as a Visiting Scholar at the Ryukoku University of Kyoto by invitation of Jun Fujita Hirose. Thereafter, the two lectures were published as an article under the title ‘Ecocosmism: Finitude Unbound,’ Philosophies, 9.1 (2024).